

I fully support the concepts described in RM-10765. I believe that it would be an ideal way to rapidly disseminate information across the nation. There are many amateur radio operators and shortwave listeners equipped with the necessary equipment to decode and disseminate the information locally. Many of these same individuals are also equipped with alternate power sources and could still manage to disseminate necessary information in events such as the recent Northeast blackout and natural or other types of disasters.